SPECIAL SENATORIAL ELECTION IS HELD VALID

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISION GIVEN IN CASE

PETITIONERS CONTENTED THAT THE ELECTION CALL WAS ILLEGAL ONE

SUPREME COURT OPINION WAS WRITTEN BY COMMISSIONER M. D. TAYLOR

St. Paul, July 6.—The state supreme court today held that the special senatorial election called by Governor Preus for July 16 is valid.

The formal opinion of the court follows that given before the primary election June 18 sustaining the election call, following proceedings to enjoin the balloting started by Frank D. McAllister, attorney, who represented three taxpayers.

McAllister contended that the election call was illegal and that the procedure decided upon by the governor to name a successor to the late Senator Knute Nelson entailed much unnecessary expense, which, he alleged, would reach $500,000.

The supreme court opinion, written by Commissioner M. D. Taylor, said the court has no authority to enjoin the governor from calling an election.

"All laws agree," says the opinion, "that the judiciary department cannot control or restrain the acts of the governor in performance and exercise of the governmental, political or departmental power vested in him as the chief executive officer of the state, and an attempt to do so would be an unjustifiable interference by one department of the government with the power lodged in another department."

State Senator James A. Carley, Democratic nominee, returned from an invasion of the Iron range district.

Two more speakers were added today to the campaigners for Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor party choice for senator. They are Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton, Wis., and Miss Alice Lorraine Daly, candidate for governor in South Dakota in 1922. She was endorsed by the Non-partisan League. Congressman Schneider was elected with organized labor's endorsement last year. He also had LaFollette's support.

C. E. COMMENTS HARDING STAND ON RUM CONTROL

Des Moines, July 6.—Prohibition was the dominant issue before last night's session of the International Christian Endeavor convention here.

Political support of candidates and parties that manifest their friendliness toward the cause was pledged in one of the resolutions adopted and praise for President Harding's stand on the question was voiced in another.

Before acting on the resolutions the delegates heard Reverend Lionel Fletcher of London, president of the British Christian Endeavor Union denounce British ship owners for failure to co-operate with United States authorities in enforcing the three-mile liquor regulations.

"Do not judge Britain by the fleet of ships that is trying to run liquor into your country," said Mr. Fletcher in his address tonight, "I, as the representative of the British Christian Endeavor and representing hundreds of thousands of other British Christians, assure you that we feel money back from this thing. The day is coming when there will arise such a public spirit of indignation against it, that politicians who do not strive to prevent violation of the laws of our kinsfolk in America, will have to face the anger of an awakened people."

HARD COAL MINERS LAY DOWN ULTIMATUM TO OPERATORS TODAY

(By United Press)
Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—Anthracite miners today laid down an ultimatum to operators.

With eleven specific demands, including a 20 per cent wage increase demand, representatives of the workers went into the joint conference with operators, the outcome of which will determine whether there is going to be another strike.

The miners demand that their specifications be embodied in the new working agreement which is to go into effect September 1, upon expiration of the old contract. More than 200 owners and union delegates were present when the conference opened.

PROSECUTION PLAYED "TRUMP CARD" TODAY

Waukegan, Ill., July 6.—The prosecution played a "trump card" today at the trial of John B. Fields, Edward Kaufman, and Edward Courtney, charged with conspiracy to corrupt the jury which acquitted Governor Len Small.

William J. Riley, state's star witness, testified that he received $1,000 from Kaufman to be used in obtaining Small's acquittal on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds. Riley said $350 of this went to Fields, one of the Small trial jurors, and the remainder to Kaufman, who was in the courtroom.

TESTS PLANE FOR CONTINENT FLIGHT

Mineola, N. Y., July 6.—Flying around and around over Long Island, Lieut. Russell L. Maughan today tested the plane in which he will attempt to fly from coast to coast between dawn and sunset.

If his test shows the machine is ready, and if the weather is propitious, he will make the flight tomorrow, leaving Mitchell Field in the morning and arriving—if all goes well—at San Francisco in the evening.

Spaniard, 114, Dead; Never Smoked or Drank

Vigo, Spain, July 6.—Jose Varaguz Dominguez, a native of Madrid, died here, aged 114. He had lived in Vigo 70 years. He was a bachelor, never smoked nor drank and his last illness was his first.

TANGLED BATTLE OVER FIGHT FILMS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 6.—Motion picture men and government agents are in a tangled battle over the rights to the Dempsey-Gibbons fight pictures.

Federal agents assert the films are still in Shelby or Great Falls.

Theodore Hays, manager for Finckelstein and Ruben, Twin City movie magnates, announced that the fight pictures would be shown here, giving no date for the showing and not saying if he knew where the pictures are now.

Reports that the films were smuggled into St. Paul by airplane were denied by St. Johannes, head of the Minnesota branch of the department if justice. He also denied that the films were smuggled to Chicago to be relayed to New York. He declared that pictures of the fight arriving here and in Chicago were news pictures of the fight and no more.

There is no law against showing the films in any state but there is a law against transporting them from state to state. Federal agents are on the watch to keep the films from being smuggled to other states.

Persons caught smuggling pictures from state to state are liable to a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for from one to ten years.

FARMER-LABORITES, PARENT 3RD PARTY, IS ITSELF SPLIT UP

C. E. RUTHENBERG, OHIO, AND WILLIAM Z. FOSTER LEAD ORGANIZATION

FARMER - LABOR DELEGATES FROM SIX STATES FOLLOW THEIR LEAD

(By United Press)
Chicago, July 6.—The farmer-labor party, parent of the third party coalition idea, was itself split here today when its delegates from six states announced they were to join a "federated farm-labor party organized under the control of liberals and communists supervisors."

The "Federated Farm-Labor" came into being at a session ending shortly after midnight.

Liberals favored with mention of Soviet Russia forced its organization after conservative farmer delegates of the Farmer-Labor party fought the plan and its principles.

C. E. Ruthenberg, Ohio, and William Z. Foster, labor leader, led the organization. Farmer-Labor party delegates from Washington, Kentucky, North Dakota, California, southern Illinois and parts of Ohio voted to follow their lead.

The whole Farmer-Labor party proper will vote finally on joining the coalition today, and many conservative delegates are expected to bolt.

The third party organization scheme adopted was urged by the workers' party.

COMMUNISM AND FORD CAUSE ARGUMENT

Chicago, July 6.—The country's third political party was split today a few hours after its organization over communism and Henry Ford.

Liberals in the minorities coalition conference, fathered by the present farmer-labor party, forced through organization of the "federated farmer-labor party" at a session ending after midnight today. The plan adopted was that of the workers' party for merging all political minorities.

C. E. Ruthenberg and William Z. Foster lead the majority of "liberals" that cheered the mention of soviet Russia and communism. Conservative delegates of the established farmer-labor party fought organization, and leaders announced plans to bolt the project.

Conservative farmer and labor delegates caused a split in the organization over mention of Henry Ford for president. Liberals denounced him as a "capitalist."

Farmer-labor party leaders refused to join the coalition because of the alleged affiliation with the workers' party.

American Federation of Labor men declared that they would be expelled by their national officers if found in affiliation with the party.

Formation of the new party was followed by a resolution demanding immediate recognition of soviet Russia and Mexico.

The conference also adopted resolutions demanding release of the 36 federal prisoners, pledging support to all "persecuted" liberal agitators and demanding elimination of "war propaganda" from school textbooks.

The new party adopted three principles:

1. Nationalization of all public utilities, communication, and transportation.
2. Industries to be run by workers and farmers.
3. Working and farming masses must be assured a maximum security against destitution and unemployment, sickness and high prices.

The Ruthenberg faction also secured adoption of a legislative program which includes federal laws providing for an 8-hour day, with employers violating subject to imprisonment; making the reserve bank system serve farmers and workers; provide compensation for unemployed, and providing minimum wage and child labor legislation.

12-HOUR DAY AND 7-DAY WEEK GET SEVERE CENSURE

(By United Press)
Des Moines, July 6.—The 12-hour day and the seven-day week system in industry were condemned as a "relic of industrial absolutism" by the 10,000 delegates to the International Christian Endeavor convention here today.

Such policies are a menace to the American home, the Christian church and free government, the convention declared in resolutions. Control and direction of government by industry were urged.

King Gustav of Sweden Receives Minnesota People

Stockholm, July 6.—King Gustav of Sweden today received at luncheon the special delegation which has been sent here by Minnesota with official greetings to Sweden on the occasion of the technical jubilee celebration in Gothenburg. The delegation, which is headed by Edgar Mattson, president of the Midland Bank of Minneapolis, was called for by the royal carriages and driven in state from their hotel across the famous North Bridge to the Royal Castle. Addresses were then exchanged touching the historic cordial relations between the United States and Sweden.

Tonight the Minnesota visitors will be entertained at a dinner given in their honor by the Swedish premier, Ernest Trygger.

ing the reserve bank system serve farmers and workers; provide compensation for unemployed, and providing minimum wage and child labor legislation.

"The federation will never hold another convention," said B. A. Berg, chairman of the Illinois farmer-labor party, following organization of the coalition.

"When word goes forth that the convention was backed by workers and dominated by men advocating communism, and national union officials will bar their men."

"They have wrecked the farmer-labor party," Toscan Bennett, Hartford, Conn., chairman of the farmer-labor convention, said.

"That is the only accomplishment. The federation has nothing and can get nothing out."

"The conference represented from a half to three-fourths of a million laborers," Ruthenberg said. "Ninety-five per cent of the delegation came determined to unite and organize a party to fight the political battles of the farmer and laborer. This is at least a party which will unite the farmers and laborers."

TRIO DRIFTING NORTHEASTERLY UP ST. LAWRENCE

P. E. HONEYWELL, LIEUT. ROTH, CAPT. MILLER ARE STILL IN THE AIR

NO WORD HAS BEEN RECEIVED FROM ROTH AND MILLER SINCE THEY TOOK OFF

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6.—Three balloons of the 13 that took off in the national elimination balloon race late Wednesday afternoon are still afloat, according to latest word received by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the race.

The three balloons are believed to be drifting northeast along the valley of the St. Lawrence river. P. E. Honeywell, St. Louis, is the last civilian pilot left. He was still afloat over the eastern tip of Lake Erie late yesterday.

Lieut. L. F. Roth, Lakehurst, N. J., navy pilot, and Capt. Leslie Miller, Belleville, Ill., army pilot, are the other contestants still believed in the air.

No word has been received from Roth and Miller since they took off.

Lieut. J. B. Lawrence was forced to land near Glencampbell, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, when he was caught in a thunder storm. He had attained a distance of 490 miles on his flight.

The same storm caused Capt. C. E. McCullough, pilot of the American Legion balloon, the "American Legionaire" to land just after he had crossed the Pennsylvania state line yesterday afternoon.

Lieut. F. L. Culber brought his balloon down near Alliance, Ohio. He had travelled about 490 miles.

Lieut. Commander J. P. Norfleet, navy pilot, made a forced landing at Mount Eaton, Ohio, when his drag rope caught in a tree.

Jack Boettner, of Akron, Ohio, pilot of a civilian balloon, was reported down near Fremont, Ohio.

The last of the pilots to drop the race yesterday was Lieut. Robert S. Olmstead, who covered a distance of 500 miles and landed near Buffalo, N. Y.

Others forced out of the race earlier yesterday were Lieut. James B. Jordan, army pilot from Scott Field, Ill., down at Macedonia, O.; Roy F. Donaldson, civilian entry from Springfield, Ill., down at Bryan, O.; Ralph Upson, civilian entry from Detroit, down at Washekoneta, O.; and W. V. Vanorman, civilian entry from Akron, O., down at Hartford City, Ind.

ARMY BALLOON NO. 1 LANDS NEAR BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., July 6.—Army balloon number one in the national elimination race, piloted by Lieut. Olmstead, landed in a field five miles from here after travelling 565 miles. The bag was in the air 26 hours and 45 minutes.

McCULLOUGH AND AIDE IN NARROW ESCAPE

Frankfort Springs, Pa., July 6.—Capt. C. E. McCullough and his aide, flying in the national elimination race, narrowly escaped death 20,999 feet in the air when their balloon, the American Legionaire, was crushed flat at that altitude by a "storm collision."

Converging storms crushed the great gas bag much as a paper bag is exploded by a hard blow. The balloon left Indianapolis with 13 others July 4 and was over the Ohio river when hit. The balloon shot eastward, and Capt. McCullough and his aide were saved only by hurrying everything overboard, even to oxygen tanks, landing in the spreading branches of some trees.

The American Legionaire was the seventh balloon to be forced down. Upon landing, with no broken bones, Capt. McCullough gave the United Press a graphic description of his experiences.

STATE CLOSES ITS CASE AGAINST THE ALLEGED LASH BOSS

(By United Press)
Lake City, Fla., July 6.—The state today closed its case against Walter Higginbotham, alleged whipping boss, charged with the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota in a convict labor camp.

Judge McMullin was expected to deliver his charge to the jury this afternoon after the defense closes its rebuttal. The state law provides for the charge to the jury before arguments by counsel are started. Indications were that the jury would begin deliberations Monday.

Capt. McCullough gave the United Press a graphic description of his experiences.

McCULLOUGH GIVES ACCOUNT OF EXPERIENCES

(By Capt. C. E. McCullough, Pilot of the American Legionaire)
(Written for the United Press.)

Frankfort Springs, Pa., July 6.—Being the nut in the nutcracker between two terrific storms 20,000 feet up is an experience I don't care to repeat.

Every few minutes even now that I am down and out of danger it is hard to convince myself that we are out of danger and no bones broken. We were in the air 21 hours, and I certainly wouldn't want to repeat the experience.

We started with the others from Indianapolis July 4 and drifted slowly eastward, passing over Indiana and Ohio. Wind velocity was extremely low, and it was not until we had climbed to 20,000 feet that we struck a strong blow to carry us on.

Up there the wind was blowing 40 miles an hour and the machine was driven eastward rapidly. We should have reached the Atlantic seaboard without difficulty but for the unforeseen difficulty which came upon us and forced us down at once.

One storm drove in from the east and another from the west. We were then speeding along at a point high above the Ohio river at Corapolis. We were going fast, but the storms were going faster, accompanied by winds of cyclonic velocity. We were caught between the two storms, and it was impossible to go on either way. The gas was squashed out of our balloon by the elements.

With practically no gas, and no sand, we were obliged to leave everything, even oxygen tanks, as we neared the ground.

Our rate of descent was checked and we were sustained somewhat as we were borne up by winds, but we dropped 1200 feet per minute. Then we neared the earth and dropped our heavy tanks, the speed of our fall broke to 800 feet per minute and we drifted to the ground, dropping into the spreading branches of a big butternut tree—the greatest tree that ever grew. This landing saved us broken bones or worse.

2 BALLOONS STILL UNACCOUNTED FOR

Indianapolis, July 6.—Two of the thirteen balloons which left here in the national elimination race July 4 were unaccounted for at noon today.

The two pilots, H. E. Honeywell, civilian, of St. Louis, and L. J. Roth, with a naval entry, were believed still afloat, or they may have landed in Canada where communication is slow. No word has been received from them for many hours.

Lester T. Miller, eleventh pilot to be forced down, wired Scott Field, Ill., that he landed at Ford City, Pa., late yesterday. He was the last of the army entries to report.

2 LANDED AT BROCKTON LAST NIGHT

Dunkirk, N. Y., July 6.—T. A. Honeywell and J. C. McCullough of St. Louis landed at Brockton near here last night. They are one of the last two teams left aloft in the national balloon race which started at Indianapolis July 4.

CATTLE TRAIN HAS SCORE OF CARS OVERTURNED WHEN CAR JOURNAL SNAPPED

DEAD AND INJURED WERE NEGROES CARING FOR CATTLE OR "RIDING RODS"

(By United Press)

Freeport, Ill., July 6.—Five men were killed and dozens injured in a night wreck of a cattle train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at Fairdale, according to word received here today.

The dead and seven of the injured are negroes.

The men were in a car in the center of the train. They were railroad employees caring for the cattle and harvest hands "riding the rods."

Several of the dead and injured were trampled to death in the stampede of hands and cattle through the wreckage.

Many cattle were killed when a score of heavily-loaded cars of the train turned over.

A broken journal caused the wreck. The train was en route from Omaha to Chicago.

Dying and injured men were given emergency treatment and taken to Rockford hospitals on a special train. The main railroad line is still obstructed today, and trains are being detoured over the Chicago & Great Western from Byron.

FARM BOARD TO GIVE LOANS TO GRAIN ELEVATORS

Minneapolis, July 6.—Federal co-operation in the grain marketing program of the Farm Bureau federation is represented in the decision of the Federal Farm Loan Board at Washington to supply funds to the farmers' co-operative elevators of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, to be used in the buying of grain and the moving of the product to the terminals.

Announcement of the Federal board's decision was made yesterday by T. H. Hagen, secretary and manager of the United States Grain Growers Sales Co., of Minneapolis, a farmers' marketing organization promoted by the Farm Bureau federations of the Northwest. Mr. Hagen has just returned from Washington where he was in conference with the Federal board.

Under the arrangement the United States Grain Growers Sales Co., with headquarters in the Corn Exchange, can receive, through the United States Intermediate Credit Bank in St. Paul, a loan of $15,000 for each co-operative elevator dealing with it. Loans are to be made in multiples of $5,000 secured by storage tickets, or warehouse receipts. The money is to come from the bank at St. Paul, and loaned to the elevators through the co-operative sales agency which serves in the nature of a rediscount institution. No discount on the loan will be taken, however. Loans on the same basis are available to all farmers' co-operative grain marketing agencies, Mr. Hagen stated.

In the past, according to Mr. Hagen, the farmers' elevators have been financed by grain commission firms, but under the new plan it will be possible for the farmers to market their grain through their own organization, the United States Grain Growers' Sales Co.

Carriage Cost $200,000.

The most valuable carriage in the world is preserved in the palace of the Trion at Versailles. It was constructed for Charles X of France. From pole to hind wheels the vehicle is thickly covered with gold and it cost more than $200,000.

TRIO DRIFTING NORTHEASTERLY UP ST. LAWRENCE

P. E. HONEYWELL, LIEUT. ROTH, CAPT. MILLER ARE STILL IN THE AIR

NO WORD HAS BEEN RECEIVED FROM ROTH AND MILLER SINCE THEY TOOK OFF

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6.—Three balloons of the 13 that took off in the national elimination balloon race late Wednesday afternoon are still afloat, according to latest word received by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the race.

The three balloons are believed to be drifting northeast along the valley of the St. Lawrence river. P. E. Honeywell, St. Louis, is the last civilian pilot left. He was still aloft over the eastern tip of Lake Erie late yesterday.

Lieut. L. F. Roth, Lakehurst, N. J., navy pilot, and Capt. Leslie Miller, Belleville, Ill., army pilot, are the other contestants still believed in the air.

No word has been received from Roth and Miller since they took off.

Lieut. J. B. Lawrence was forced to land near Glencampbell, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, when he was caught in a thunder storm. He had attained a distance of 400 miles on his flight.

The same storm caused Capt. C. E. McCullough, pilot of the American Legion balloon, the "American Legionnaire" to land just after he had crossed the Pennsylvania state line yesterday afternoon.

Lieut. F. L. Culber brought his balloon down near Alliance, Ohio. He had travelled about 400 miles.

Lieut. Commander J. P. Norlie, navy pilot, made a forced landing at Mount Eaton, Ohio, when his drag rope caught in a tree.

Jack Boettner, of Akron, Ohio, pilot of a civilian balloon, was reported down near Fremont, Ohio.

The last of the pilots to drop the race yesterday was Lieut. Robert S. Olmstead, who covered a distance of 500 miles and landed near Buffalo, N. Y.

Others forced out of the race earlier yesterday were Lieut. James B. Jordan, army pilot from Scott Field, Ill., down at Macedonia, O.; Roy F. Donaldson, civilian entry from Springfield, Ill., down at Bryan, O.; Ralph Upson, civilian entry from Detroit, down at Washkoneka, O.; and W. V. Vanorman, civilian entry from Akron, O., down at Hartford City, Ind.

ARMY BALLOON NO. 1 LANDS NEAR BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., July 6.—Army balloon number one in the national elimination race, piloted by Lieut. Olmstead, landed in a field five miles from here after travelling 565 miles. The bag was in the air 26 hours and 45 minutes.

MCCULLOUGH AND AIDE IN NARROW ESCAPE

Frankfort Springs, Pa., July 6.—Capt. C. E. McCullough and his aide, flying in the national elimination race, narrowly escaped death 20,000 feet in the air when their balloon, the American Legionnaire, was crushed flat at that altitude by a "storm collision." Converging storms crushed the great gas bag much as a paper bag is exploded by a hard blow. The balloon left Indianapolis with 13 others July 4 and was over the Ohio river when hit. The balloon shot earthward, and Capt. McCullough and his aide were saved only by hurrying everything overboard, even to oxygen tanks, landing in the spreading branches of some trees.

The American Legionnaire was the seventh balloon to be forced down. Upon landing, with no broken bones,

STATE CLOSES ITS CASE AGAINST THE ALLEGED LASH BOSS

(By United Press)
Lake City, Fla., July 6.—The state today closed its case against Walter Higginbotham, alleged whipping boss, charged with the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota in a convict labor camp.

Judge McMullin was expected to deliver his charge to the jury this afternoon after the defense closes its rebuttal. The state law provides for the charge to the jury before arguments by counsel are started. Indications were that the jury would begin deliberations Monday.

Capt. McCullough gave the United Press a graphic description of his experiences.

MCCULLOUGH GIVES ACCOUNT OF EXPERIENCES

(By Capt. C. E. McCullough, (Pilot of the American Legionnaire) (Written for the United Press).)

Frankfort Springs, Pa., July 6.—Being the nut in the nutcracker between two terrific storms 20,000 feet up is an experience I don't care to repeat.

Every few minutes even now that I am down and out of danger it is hard to convince myself that we are out of danger and no bones broken. We were in the air 21 hours, and I certainly wouldn't want to repeat the experience.

We started with the others from Indianapolis July 4 and drifted slowly eastward, passing over Indiana and Ohio. Wind velocity was extremely low, and it was not until we had climbed to 20,000 feet that we struck a strong blow to carry us on.

Up there the wind was blowing 40 miles an hour and the machine was driven eastward rapidly. We should have reached the Atlantic seaboard without difficulty but for the unforeseen difficulty which came upon us and forced us down at once.

One storm drove in from the east and another from the west. We were then speeding along at a point high above the Ohio river at Corapolis. We were going fast, but the storms were going faster, accompanied by winds of cyclonic velocity. We were caught between the two storms, and it was impossible to go on either way. The gas was squashed out of our balloon by the elements.

With practically no gas, and no sand, we were obliged to leave everything, even oxygen tanks, as we neared the ground.

Our rate of descent was checked and we were sustained somewhat as we were borne up by winds, but we dropped 1200 feet per minute. Then we neared the earth and dropped our heavy tanks, the speed of our fall broke to 800 feet per minute and we drifted to the ground, dropping into the spreading branches of a big, butternut tree—the greatest tree that ever grew. This landing saved us broken bones or worse.

2 BALLOONS STILL UNACCOUNTED FOR

Indianapolis, July 6.—Two of the thirteen balloons which left here in the national elimination race July 4 were unaccounted for at noon today.

The two pilots, H. E. Honeywell, civilian, of St. Louis, and L. J. Roth, with a naval entry, were believed still aloft, or they may have landed in Canada where communication is slow. No word has been received from them for many hours.

Lester T. Miller, eleventh pilot to be forced down, wired Scott Field, Ill., that he landed at Ford City, Pa., late yesterday. He was the last of the army entries to report.

2 LANDED AT BROCKTON LAST NIGHT

Dunkirk, N. Y., July 6.—T. A. Honeywell and J. C. McCullough of St. Louis landed at Brockton near here last night. They are one of the last two teams left aloft in the national balloon race which started at Indianapolis July 4.

5 MEN KILLED AND DOZENS HURT IN A MILWAUKEE WRECK

CATTLE TRAIN HAS SCORE OF CARS OVERTURNED WHEN CAR JOURNAL SNAPPED

DEAD AND INJURED WERE NEGROES CARING FOR CATTLE OR "RIDING RODS"

(By United Press)

Freeport, Ill., July 6.—Five men were killed and dozens injured in a night wreck of a cattle train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at Fairdale, according to word received here today.

The dead and seven of the injured are negroes.

The men were in a car in the center of the train. They were railroad employees caring for the cattle and harvest hands "riding the rods."

Several of the dead and injured were trampled to death in the stampede of hands and cattle through the wreckage.

Many cattle were killed when a score of heavily-loaded cars of the train turned over.

A broken journal caused the wreck. The train was en route from Omaha to Chicago.

Dying and injured men were given emergency treatment and taken to Rockford hospitals on a special train. The main railroad line is still obstructed today, and trains are being detoured over the Chicago & Great Western from Byron.

FARM BOARD TO GIVE LOANS TO GRAIN ELEVATORS

Minneapolis, July 6.—Federal co-operation in the grain marketing program of the Farm Bureau federation is represented in the decision of the Federal Farm Loan Board at Washington to supply funds to the farmers' co-operative elevators of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, to be used in the buying of grain and the moving of the product to the terminals.

Announcement of the Federal board's decision was made yesterday by T. H. Hagen, secretary and manager of the United States Grain Growers Sales Co., of Minneapolis, a farmers' marketing organization promoted by the Farm Bureau federations of the Northwest. Mr. Hagen has just returned from Washington where he was in conference with the Federal board.

Under the arrangement the United States Grain Growers Sales Co., with headquarters in the Corn Exchange, can receive, through the United States Intermediate Credit Bank in St. Paul, a loan of $15,000 for each co-operative elevator dealing with it. Loans are to be made in multiples of $5,000 secured by storage tickets, or warehouse receipts. The money is to come from the bank at St. Paul, and loaned to the elevators through the co-operative sales agency which serves in the nature of a redoubt institution. No discount on the loan will be taken, however. Loans on the same basis are available to all farmers' co-operative grain marketing agencies, Mr. Hagen stated.

In the past, according to Mr. Hagen, the farmers' elevators have been financed by grain commission firms, but under the new plan it will be possible for the farmers to market their grain through their own organization, the United States Grain Growers' Sales Co.

Carriage Cost $200,000.
The most valuable carriage in the world is preserved in the palace of the Trianon at Versailles. It was constructed for Charles X of France. From pole to hind wheels the vehicle is thickly covered with gold and it cost more than $200,000.

CHAUTAUQUA COMES TO CLOSE

Programs Enthusiastically Proclaimed as Best Ever Given in City

CONCERT COMPANY ENCORED
Election of Brainerd Chautauqua Officers Held, H. F. Michael Again Heads Same

The Chautauqua closed last night with a program pronounced to be one of the best ever heard in Brainerd. The Van Grove concert company is composed of artists who were encored again and again. Many expressed wonder as to how such an organization could be brought through a chautauqua organization.

The lecture by Joe Hanley was not only most interesting but instructive as he held his audience closely for an hour after 9:15.

Every number throughout the entire series was a good one and the interest increased with each days work.

Those responsible for bringing the Chautauqua here state that they knew they had a fine program to present but were not prepared for the wonderfully popular reception given the program.

H. F. Michael, president of the local organization stated from the platform last night that the season ticket sale was most difficult for this year and that chautauqua enthusiasm was at a low ebb but that it had all changed during this week. Expression of approval was most enthusiastic.

He said that at least one hundred fifty more tickets must be sold to insure an equal program next year and expressed his belief that they could easily be sold.

A canvas for ticket selling was made again last night which brought the total sale for next year up to 450. An indication of the enthusiasm was shown by the subscription of the Lions Club for 25 tickets.

Fifty men had guaranteed the program this year and they will be called upon for about $5.00 each but the Independent Chautauqua company agrees to stand the loss, if any, during the next two years if a reasonable effort is made on ticket sales.

"Bee Bread"

Bee bread is the pollen, a fine yellow dust, collected by the bees from flowers. This is carried on the hind legs of the bee, the middle joint of which is made broad and furnished with a rim of strong hairs, so as to form a basket, admirably adapted for the purpose to which it is applied. This bee bread mixed with honey forms the food of young bees, for which use alone it is collected.

The lecture by Joe Hanley was not only most interesting but instructive as he held his audience closely for an hour after 9:15.

Every number throughout the entire series was a good one and the interest increased with each days work.

Those responsible for bringing the Chautauqua here state that they knew they had a fine program to present but were not prepared for the wonderfully popular reception given the program.

H. F. Michael, president of the local organization stated from the platform last night that the season ticket sale was most difficult for this year and that chautauqua enthusiasm was at a low ebb but that it had all changed during this week. Expression of approval was most enthusiastic.

He said that at least one hundred fifty more tickets must be sold to insure an equal program next year and expressed his belief that they could easily be sold.

A canvas for ticket selling was made again last night which brought the total sale for next year up to 450. An indication of the enthusiasm was shown by the subscription of the Lions Club for 25 tickets.

ton and Mrs. W. C. Cobb, nominated the following officers and executive board for the following years. The election was unanimous.

President—H. F. Michael.
Vice President—W. H. Gemmel.
Secretary—G. E. Lammon.
Treasurer—A. S. Peterson.
The board members are:
Program Committee—W. C. Cobb.
Publicity—John A. Hoffbauer.
Tickets—S. R. Adair.
Place—Walter Murphy, W. H. Cleary, H. P. Dunn, H. D. Fullerton.

The talent for next year will be selected shortly after January 1st. In the meantime the board would like the expression of ticket subscribers as to the kind of program they will want another year.

Fifty men had guaranteed the program this year and they will be called upon for about $5.00 each but the Independent Chautauqua company agrees to stand the loss, if any, during the next two years if a reasonable effort is made on ticket sales.

"Bee Bread."

Bee bread is the pollen, a fine yellow dust, collected by the bees from flowers. This is carried on the hind legs of the bee, the middle joint of which is made broad and furnished with a rim of strong hairs, so as to form a basket, admirably adapted for the purpose to which it is applied. This bee bread mixed with honey forms the food of young bees, for which use alone it is collected.

Crows Will Pick Up Human Speech. Nearly all the true crows, as well as many of their near relatives, will pick up more or less of human speech in captivity; and it is sometimes hard to believe that the styness with which they invest their remarks, their aptness and intonation, are altogether accidental.

Fence Erected Along North Side of Grounds Leads Them to Caretaker's Cottage

Quite a number of tourists spent their Fourth of July in Brainerd, as is evidenced by the tourist register at the campsite for Wednesday.

A fence has been erected along the north side of the grounds to stop visitors before they enter. This gives the caretaker an opportunity of having them register, and assigning them a site on the lot, when heretofore it was the custom of many to drive past the office building and usually to the extreme rear of the grounds.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Ladies of 1st Congregational Church Were Entertained by Mrs. E. P. Slipp

The ladies of the Missionary society of First Congregational church were entertained by Mrs. E. P. Slipp, Friday afternoon, June 29th at "Rest Cottage," Gull lake.

At the opening exercises, Miss Sadie Robinson read a letter, from the secretary of the Ryder Memorial Hospital, Humacao, Porto Rico, which expressed thanks and appreciation of the box of hospital supplies, sent by the Missionary society during the month of May.

The following program, based upon China, was carried out:

"Chinas' Past, Present and Future," Mrs. Irma C. Hartley.

"The River Gods Wedding," a story of ancient China with a modern application, Mrs. R. E. Cody.

A Description of "Missionary Experience with Women of China," Miss Sadie Robinson.

"Congregational Work in China," Mrs. Slipp.

"Pebbles from Fenchow road," revealing the effect of Wrigleys spearmint, coffee and the Ford truck upon the Chinese people, Mrs. J. A. Wool-head.

"Dr. Nutting in America," Mrs. Spencer.

Story, "Dr. Mary Stone," Mrs. Losey.

"Chinese Evangelization," as result of Dr. Mary Stones hospital at Shanghai, at the present time, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone.

"The Power of a Medical Mission," Mrs. Harry Wilson.

Interesting accounts of the work of the Bible, women at Foochow, under Miss Martha Wiley, were given by Mrs. F. Wieland and Miss May Whiteley. These accounts of the work at Foochow were sent to the society by Miss Hartwell, who is engaged in philanthropic work in that city and the surrounding region in China. Miss Hartwell is remembered by all those who heard her speak in the First Congregational church the fall of 1921.

An added pleasure given the meeting was the presence of Mrs. Annie L. Nevers of San Jose, Calif., and the direct and interesting message she brought from China, as she had visited that country in her trips around the world. She described the old city of Canton, with the rickshaws ride thru the narrow streets, and many interesting sights. She also gave a very instructive account of General Feng, one of the greatest Christian men of the present time of China.

Mrs. L. P. Hall spoke on "China and Her Bandits," which finished the program on China.

Mrs. J. M. Elder, in a very impressive manner, gave the reading, "Foreign Missions as a Soldier Sees Them," while Mrs. Kaley held her audience, with the word picture, "The Bible woman her Idol." All joined in singing, "I love to tell the story," led by Mrs. C. A. Albright.

The meeting closed with a short reading on "Giving" by Mrs. G. S. Swanson. That all entered into the spirit of giving was manifested by the large collection which followed, which amount is used for the support of one of Foochow's Bible women.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Elder and Mrs. Swanson assisting.

Among the visitors present was

Miss Kate Whiteley whose presence is always inspiring, as she is a staunch believer and supporter of both home and foreign Missions.

Music Lures to Death.

Two years ago, Chatham, Ontario, had a plague of mosquitoes so bad that fires were burned in front of many houses to drive the pests away with the smoke. A marvelous invention announced from San Francisco promises relief to many sufferers from this Canadian scourge. Nathaniel Morgan of that town claims to have invented a mosquito machine which is an automatic vampire. The device consists of a motor which slides a bow back and forth across a violin string so keyed as to produce the female mosquito's mating note. A suction fan pulls in the investigating insect and deposits him on a piece of flypaper.

Clever.

A clever new trick for airplanes is invented by an Englishman. It's a revolving platform, which moves rapidly back as the airplane starts ahead treadmill fashion, so the plane is going fast when it manages to get off the platform. This does away with the necessity of gliding over a long field before rising. Like the ball moving rapidly but staying on the umbrella twirled in the opposite direction by the Jap vaudeville actor. It's quite possible that houses will have roofs like this later, in the day of flying flippers.

Real Estate Values.

"My friend, the real estate man, is very downcast after seeing Babylon, Babel and Nineveh."

"Why so?"

"Says there's been a terrible decline in values."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

STUDEBAKER

The Studebaker Light-Six

was designed by Studebaker engineers and is manufactured complete in the NEW STUDEBAKER PLANTS AT SOUTH BEND, IND., which are notable in design, size and equipment for efficient and economical manufacture. The South Bend Plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend Forge Plant cost $4,000,000, which alone is more than the total assets of many automobile companies.

And then there are: The machine shops which cost $7,000,000. The stamping plant which cost $4,000,000. The new foundries which will cost over $2,000,000. The power plants which cost $2,500,000.

The assembly and stock plants which cost $5,000,000, as well as closed and open body plants, spring shops, etc.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants.

Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.

These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than a thousand dollars.

In actual car value per dollar of price the Light-Six is in a class by itself. No prospective buyer of an automobile should decide on anything until he has seen and driven this car.

It is backed by a corporation with $85,000,000 of actual net assets and a 71-year reputation for honest product and fair dealing.

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

Mrs. L. P. Hall spoke on "China and Her Bandits," which finished the program on China.

Mrs. J. M. Elder, in a very impressive manner, gave the reading, "Foreign Missions as a Soldier Sees Them," while Mrs. Kaley held her audience, with the word picture, "The Bible woman her Idol." All joined in singing, "I love to tell the story," led by Mrs. C. A. Albright.

The meeting closed with a short reading on "Giving," by Mrs. G. S. Swanson. That all entered into the spirit of giving was manifested by the large collection which followed, which amount is used for the support of one of Foochow's Bible women.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Elder and Mrs. Swanson assisting.

Among the visitors present was

Miss Kate Whiteley whose presence is always inspiring, as she is a staunch believer and supporter of both home and foreign Missions.

Two years ago, Chatham, Ontario, had a plague of mosquitoes so bad that fires were burned in front of many houses to drive the pests away with the smoke. A marvelous invention announced from San Francisco promises relief to many sufferers from this Canadian songster. Nathaniel Morgan of that town claims to have invented a mosquito machine which is an automatic vampire. The device consists of a motor which slides a box back and forth across a violin string so keyed as to produce the female mosquito's mating note. A suction fan pulls in the investigating insect and deposits him on a piece of flypaper.

Clever.

A clever new trick for airplanes is invented by an Englishman. It's a revolving platform, which moves rapidly back as the airplane starts ahead treadmill fashion, so the plane is going fast when it manages to get off the platform. This does away with the necessity of gliding over a long field before rising. Like the ball moving rapidly but staying on the umbrella twirled in the opposite direction by the Jap vaudeville actor.

It's quite possible that houses will have roofs like this later, in the day of flying divers.

Real Estate Values.

"My friend, the real estate man, is very downcast after seeing Babylon, Babel and Nineveh."

"Why so?"

"Says there's been a terrible decline in values."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The
Studebaker
Light-Six

was designed by Studebaker engineers and is manufactured complete in the new STUDEBAKER PLANTS AT SOUTH BEND, IND., which are notable in design, size and equipment for efficient and economical manufacture. The South Bend Plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space.

They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend Forge Plant cost $4,000,000, which alone is more than the total assets of many automobile companies.

And then there are: The machine shops which cost $7,000,000. The stamping plant which cost $4,000,000. The new foundries which will cost over $2,000,000. The power plants which cost $2,500,000.

The assembly and stock plants which cost $5,000,000, as well as closed and open body plants, spring shops, etc.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants.

Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.

These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than a thousand dollars.

In actual value per dollar of price the Light-Six is in a class by itself. No prospective buyer of an automobile should decide on anything until he has seen and driven this car.

It is backed by a corporation with $35,000,000 of actual net assets and a 71-year reputation for honest product and fair dealing.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

KILLING OFF THE KILLER

If weeds are not killed off they attack desirable and cultivated growth and the damage they do is much more serious than is often suspected. They are allowed to grow and scatter their seeds because land owners have not been aroused to the measure of their destructiveness. Crops are depleted and the land becomes a weed bed wherein planted crops are destroyed by a malignant growth that thrives without cultivation and must be killed off by hard work if planting and cultivating is to bring a fair measure of return.

One of the reasons for the prevalence of this menace to the agriculturalist lies in the fact that those who do not hold land for productive purposes are not affected by the destruction resulting from the wind-borne seeds lifted from growing weeds. To eradicate these weeds on land that is not productive costs something in effort or money and the cost does not secure anything for the one in possession of such lands. From this unproductive land seeds are carried to land that is used for farming purposes and the owner of productive land suffers through the neglect of those who own land that is not utilized for agricultural purposes.

So that farmers may be protected from weeds grown on land that is not farmed, and from their neighbors who have failed to sense the menace of weeds, the state of Minnesota has passed laws to compel the destruction of weeds, and the law enacted in 1923 is more stringent than those previously passed by the legislature. This new law makes the chairman of the board in each township responsible for the destruction of weeds in that township, while in incorporated towns and cities the mayor is made responsible for seeing to it that weeds are destroyed. Railroads are required to keep their holdings clear of weeds, land-owners are compelled to attend to the highways adjacent to their land, and these, whether they live on the land or are absent, are required to destroy weeds growing on the land that is in their possession. If this is not done voluntarily, after attention has been called to the neglect the authorities are under obligation to employ help for this purpose and the cost of such help will be charged against the person owning the land.

If weeds are not destroyed they will in time destroy the land on which they grow. Man's struggle with nature is a real struggle. If he fails to struggle he will be defeated, and if the battle with weeds is not fought strenuously the weeds will win out in the end.

A little thought concerning the damage that may be done to the land that the farmer is striving to make fertile will bring owners of non-productive or non-occupied lands into this struggle with the weeds in a spirit that will get results. Weeds may not depreciate their holdings, if they are to be utilized for other purposes than farming, but they do harm the lands that are cultivated by those who have chosen to engage in agricultural pursuits.

SECRETARY DAVIS GOES TO EUROPE

THERE has been a migration of cabinet officers and congressmen to Europe during this summer. They are there in most cases, not so much for the pleasure of the trip and a rest in Europe, but because they are impelled by the desire to know at first hand what is going on at the other side of the world. Secretary Mellon will be better prepared to deal with financial matters when he returns to the treasury department after his sojourn in Europe, and Secretary J. J. Davis will be better qualified to advise on the vexed question of emigration when he has returned from the other side of the Atlantic.

Secretary Davis, of the department of labor, is well advised in going to Europe to study a problem that is engaging the attention of the American people. He will see emigrants who wish to enter the United States, he will be able to get their viewpoint and to determine whether, if they were admitted, they would constitute a menace to our government, and when he comes back he will be prepared to advise as to the best method of meeting a problem that confronts the United States at a time when a shortage of labor has led to a pronounced demand for an increase in the number of immigrants who may be admitted to our shores.

Secretary Davis insists that American consuls are better qualified to choose who shall enter the United States than the steamship companies, and he is probably right in suggesting that the important matter is not how many enter this country but the quality of those who come in. If the secretary of labor returns with statistics that will convince the people of the United States, they may stand behind him in putting legislation through congress that will deal with this question on the grounds of an intelligent appreciation of the facts rather than in formulating legislation as in the past, with an ear to the ground for the purpose of listening to foreign elements in this country whose votes count in an election. Our immigration laws are not good and the recommendations of Secretary Davis, based on a knowledge of both sides of the Atlantic, may lead to bringing about more intelligent measures.

THE AMERICAN PEACE AWARD

AWARDS have been offered for many different achievements and these have stimulated interest. It may not be true that artists and literary men have produced their prize-winning work because they were seeking the award, but it is true that awards have stirred interest in the subject in connection with which they were offered.

In creating the American Peace Award, Edward Bok of Philadelphia has not for the first time offered a prize for the best thought designed to further the cause of peace, the Nobel prize has been offered for some time and has been won by prominent Americans.

The real significance of this offer lies in the fact that it is made at a time when the attention of the people of the world is directed to this end. While appearances might indicate that the peoples of Europe are not alive to this desirable end, there is reason to believe that the folks at the other side of the world are not in full sympathy with the policies of their governments, and it is not long ago that Lloyd George was defeated because the people of Britain believed that his Near East policy was leading to a war with Turkey.

Mr. Bok offers this award because he sees that no answer to the problem has been found by special groups or through political avenues. If the World court promised peace, then Mr. Bok might save his $100,000, but it is because he sees that political interests and special groups fail to offer a satisfactory solution that he offers an award for an answer to the problem that is confronting the world. Here is one man who sees that it is worth $100,000 to have someone suggest a means of bringing peace to a restless world. It is a challenge to those, who see peace coming, to tell the world just how it will come. If they do this they will win $100,000 for offering a solution to the problem of how the world is to achieve peace, and $100,000 is not offered for an answer to a problem that is easily found. The idea that holds the hope of bringing world peace is considered to be worth $100,000 by Mr. Bok and it is worth untold billions in money and an uncalculated number of human lives to the world.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR A WOMAN

MAYOR GEORGE E. LEACH of Minneapolis made a suggestion that was acted upon by thirty disabled veterans of the World war. The suggestion proved that the mayor's heart is in the right place and it also proved that the thirty men have the chivalry of true soldiers. When making the suggestion that Madame Schumann-Heink be given a military burial, the mayor was on his feet proposing a toast to a son of this woman who was lost when a German U-boat went down in 1918. He served with the German forces while four of his brothers were in the United States army. The incident discloses the truth that honor is due the man who follows the cause that he believes in, and it also proves that men who have fought on the other side, when the heat of the engagement is over, are able to appreciate the heroism of an enemy.

Madame Schumann-Heink is entitled to a military funeral. Not only did she aid the cause for which the manhood of the United States was enlisted but she gave four of her sons to the military forces of the United States. Her services during the war, when her voice was raised to encourage American youth and to stimulate those who were too old to enter camp, were of real value to the country, and the men who returned to hear her sing the Star-Spangled Banner at conventions of ex-service men will be gratified to know that thirty men who were disabled in the world war have pledged themselves to see to it that the great prima-donna is given a military funeral. There are thousands of men who feel that they have heard our national anthem sung but once and that was when they heard Madame Schumann-Heink sing it. Other attempts were but rehearsals. Her voice interprets "Taps" splendidly, and it is fitting that when she passes over "Taps" should be sounded over the grave of a fine type of foreign born American womanhood.

General Gouraud Arrives

The Moment's Judgment

By JOHN PALMER

(© by Western Newspaper Union.)

HARRISON had no one but himself to judge him, he thought, but judgment was none the less salutary for that. The offense, indeed, had been one of those things that cannot hope for pardon; one of those things that throw a sudden white light upon the inner ego.

He had been in the wreck of the trans-Atlantic liner Matamba. The explosion had happened at three o'clock in the morning. The frantic crowd rushed for its lifeboats. Harrison's was in the act of being lowered; he leaped for his seat, thrusting aside a woman who was standing there.

An instant later he had scrambled out again, and willing hands had pulled her in. He waited on the deck; and, as every one knows, the Matamba did not sink after all, and no lives were lost.

That was all; he had retrieved his error, but the error had been committed, and it gave him no peace thereafter, though fortune smiled upon him. Five years later he was a millionaire, one of a crowd engaged in desperate rivalry for the control of the Western railroad.

Bleuse was his opponent. Both were youngish men and both were visitors at the home of Marianne Helting. Millions, literally, would have to be laid at Marianne's feet. She was like a piece of stately furniture, or, say, a Ming vase, cold and exquisite, an adornment for any man's home—any rich man's home.

Bleuse and Harrison soon found themselves first in the running. Marianne favored neither, but she would probably marry the victor of the fight in Wall Street. Harrison was the victor. Bleuse had withdrawn, nursing the shattered remnants of his fortune, and a vast vindictiveness against his rival.

It was in the smoking room that Bleuse showed his hand.

"Harrison," he said, touching the other man familiarly upon the shoulder, "I want to ask you, to advise you something. When you leave this house think of it as your last visit. Never come back."

He looked at Harrison somberly. "I was on board the Matamba," he added.

Before Harrison could answer him there sounded a light footfall near them. "What's this story about the Matamba?" asked Marianne's cool voice. "Were you saying, Mr. Bleuse, that you were aboard her when she was wrecked?"

"Yes," answered Bleuse. "I understand that our friend Harrison was too."

Harrison nodded. Outwardly he was as cool as ice, inwardly all was confusion, and out of the confusion he was trying to arrange a plan of action. He knew in that moment that he loved Marianne, that he would prefer ruin to the loss of her. He saw Bleuse's eyebrows arched inquiringly toward him, and made an almost imperceptible sign of refusal. Next moment Marianne was speaking.

"I scent an atmosphere of mystery," she said. "What is this story about the Matamba? Were you one of the heroes of the rescue, Mr. Harrison?"

Harrison laughed in the way a man may laugh who has received his death-thrust. "Oh, no, I played a very ordinary role," he answered. "I stayed on deck until we were picked up by the

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR A WOMAN

MAYOR GEORGE E. LEACH of Minneapolis made a suggestion that was acted upon by thirty disabled veterans of the World war. The suggestion proved that the mayor's heart is in the right place and it also proved that the thirty men have the chivalry of true soldiers. When making the suggestion that Madame Schumann-Heink be given a military burial, the mayor was on his feet proposing a toast to a son of this woman who was lost when a German U-boat went down in 1918. He served with the German forces while four of his brothers were in the United States army. The incident discloses the truth that honor is due the man who follows the cause that he believes in, and it also proves that men who have fought on the other side, when the heat of the engagement is over, are able to appreciate the heroism of an enemy.

Madame Schumann-Heink is entitled to a military funeral. Not only did she aid the cause for which the manhood of the United States was enlisted but she gave four of her sons to the military forces of the United States. Her services during the war, when her voice was raised to encourage American youth and to stimulate those who were too old to enter camp, were of real value to the country, and the men who returned to hear her sing the Star-Spangled Banner at conventions of ex-service men will be gratified to know that thirty men who were disabled in the world war have pledged themselves to see to it that the great prima-donna is given a military funeral. There are thousands of men who feel that they have heard our national anthem sung but once and that was when they heard Madame Schumann-Heink sing it. Other attempts were but rehearsals. Her voice interprets "Taps" splendidly, and it is fitting that when she passes over "Taps" should be sounded over the grave of a fine type of foreign born American womanhood.

The Moment's Judgment

By JOHN PALMER

(© by Western Newspaper Union.)

HARRISON had no one but himself to judge him, he thought, but judgment was none the less salutary for that. The offense, indeed, had been one of those things that cannot hope for pardon; one of those things that throw a sudden white light upon the inner ego.

He had been in the wreck of the trans-Atlantic liner Matania. The explosion had happened at three o'clock in the morning. The frantic crowd rushed for its lifeboats. Harrison's was in the act of being lowered; he leaped for his seat, thrusting aside a woman who was standing there.

An instant later he had scrambled out again, and willing hands had pulled her in. He waited on the deck; and, as every one knows, the Matania did not sink after all, and no lives were lost.

That was all; he had retrieved his error, but the error had been committed, and it gave him no peace thereafter, though fortune smiled upon him. Five years later he was a millionaire, one of a crowd engaged in desperate rivalry for the control of the Western railroad.

Blease was his opponent. Both were youngish men and both were visitors at the home of Marianne Hellung, Millionaire, literally, would have to be laid at Marianne's feet. She was like a piece of stately furniture, or, say, a Ming vase, cold and exquisite, an adornment for any man's home—any rich man's home.

Blease and Harrison soon found themselves first in the running. Marianne favored neither, but she would probably marry the victor of the fight in Wall Street. Harrison was the victor. Blease had withdrawn, nursing the shattered remnants of his fortune, and a vast vindictiveness against his rival.

It was in the smoking room that Blease showed his hand. "Harrison," he said, touching the other man familiarly upon the shoulder, "I want to ask you, to advise you something. When you leave this house think of it as your last visit. Never come back."

He looked at Harrison somberly. "I was on board the Matania," he added. Before Harrison could answer him there sounded a light footfall near them. "What's this story about the Matania?" asked Marianne's cool voice. "Were you saying, Mr. Blease, that you were aboard her when she was wrecked?"

"Yes," answered Blease. "I understand that our friend Harrison was, too."

Harrison nodded. Outwardly he was as cool as ice, inwardly all was confusion, and out of the confusion he was trying to arrange a plan of action. He knew in that moment that he loved Marianne, that he would prefer ruin to the loss of her. He saw Blease's eyes, brows arched inquiringly toward him, and made an almost imperceptible sign of refusal. Next moment Marianne was speaking.

"I scent an atmosphere of mystery," she said. "What is this story about the Matania? Were you one of the heroes of the rescue, Mr. Harrison?"

Harrison laughed in the way a man may laugh who has received his death-thrust. "Oh, no, I played a very ordinary role," he answered. "I stayed on deck until we were picked up by the

"Didn't you at first propose to get into one of the lifeboats, Harrison?" asked Blease.

The first die of the game was thrown. Harrison saw Marianne looking at him to play. "It was my intention, of course," Harrison replied. "But the boat was already full." "There was a man who tried to throw a woman out of one of the boats," said Blease. "People have said I ought to tell you, Harrison—that he had an unfortunate resemblance to yourself. It is very regrettable." Suddenly he thrust his face forward. "Was it yourself, Harrison?" he asked. "Oh, very likely," answered Harrison. "I'm not accountable when I'm in a panic."

"No," sneered Blease, "that's what everybody thinks of you, you d-d coward!" Marianne stepped between them. "It happens I was that woman, Mr. Blease," she said. "Mr. Harrison was pushed against me by the crowd; he at once withdrew and I was helped into the boat. Tell that next time you hear that story about my fiancé, Mr. Blease."

Blease went like a man dazed. Marianne turned to Harrison. A Ming vase? A living, breathing woman. What love he had always longed for shining in her eyes. "Oh, my dear, do you think I didn't know from the beginning who you were?" she asked. "Do you think I didn't suffer because you suffered? Why, that instant's impulse—the base instinct of the lower mechanism—and you got out of the boat; you got out of the boat again!"

Africa's Highest Mountain.

George Gillman read a paper before the Geographical society descriptive of an ascent a year ago of Kilimanjaro, which he alluded to as Africa's highest mountain. The party which he led were the first to ascend after the mountain had become British territory. From wherever across the surrounding steppes one approached the isolated mountain mass two outstanding features impressed themselves at once—the tremendous size, coupled with great height, and the almost incredible contrast between the tropical half desert below and the alpine desert above. Structurally, Kilimanjaro consisted of three single strato-volcanoes, each of which had had its own origin and history. Through mutual interbedding of the lava flows, however, all three had grown into one solid complex strato-volcano.

GUIDE

MANY SUMMER FOODS ARE BASED ON RICE AND BREAKFAST CEREALS

With the coming of the sultry days of summer one is often at a loss as to what to serve in the place of more substantial cereals that have done such valiant duty all winter.

There can be no doubt that rice is a summer cereal par excellence, and not only may it be used in its cereal capacity but it will furnish the nutritious basis for any number of delicious dishes which may be served as a vegetable, desert, omelet, salad, soup, in muffins or as the main course for luncheon or dinner.

Rice is perhaps the best extend-er of small quantities of other more costly foods which the economical housewife has, and an illustration of this will be found in crab risotto. It is also good in this capacity when making hashos, souffles and timbales.

The lighter forms of wheat, such as cream of wheat, are also good summer cereals, and these, like rice, may be used in many appetizing ways, while the uncooked cereals, embracing shredded wheat biscuits, triscuits and all the flaked and puffed varieties, give the housewife a wide range from which to choose in planning her summer menus.

Nearly all summer cereals combine well with the seasonable early fruits. Either rice or cream of wheat may be used with equally good results in many recipes.

A Rice Omelet

In making the rice omelet proceed in the same manner as when making a fluffy omelet, beating the whites and yolks separately. For a four-egg omelet add to the beaten yolks four tablespoons of the cooked cereal, with seasoning to taste and a dash of tomato catsup. Then fold in the stiffly whipped whites and proceed as for cooking an ordinary omelet.

Cherry Shortcake

For the cherry-shredded wheat shortcake, cut the biscuit in half, set in a hot oven for three minutes and spread with softened butter. Then dip quickly in a little sweetened cherry syrup and put together with pitted exheart cherries. Serve quickly, garnished with sweetened whipped cream.

Ice Cream Croquettes

The ice cream croquettes may be formed from any variety of stiffly frozen cream and then rolled quickly in grape-nuts. Serve with any seasonable fruit sauce.

Cream of Wheat Creole

This may be made from any left-over breakfast cereal. For two cups, freed from lumps, add two tablespoons of butter substitute (melted), one cup of rich, strained stock and two tablespoons each of minced green pepper and onion, sauted in a little hot bacon dripping. Season to taste with salt and celery salt, flavor with two tablespoons of tomato catsup and add the beaten yolks of two eggs. Mix well, fold in the beaten egg whites and turn into a buttered soufflé dish. Bake in a rather hot oven until well risen and browned.

Rice Gelatine

Scald three cups of milk with half a cup of minced, candied orange peel, add half a cup of blanched rice and one-third of a teaspoon of salt and cook until the rice is tender. Then stir in half a cup of sugar and one and a quarter tablespoons of gelatine softened in half a cup of cold water and dissolve over hot water. Cool the mixture flavor with one teaspoon of orange extract, and when it begins to congeal fold in one cup of heavy cream whipped solid. Mold in a ring mold, chill on the ice and serve with the center filled with a mixture of chilled fresh fruits.

Cherry and Rice Salad

Mold cooked, seasoned rice, moistened with a little cream and butter, in a shallow dish, and when firm, cut in small dice. Remove the her cute little handkerchief on her sleeve. She has a tiny pocket made in the sleeve of her crepe de chine dress, a dress, whose chief attractions are color, short sleeves, batteau neck and full skirt gathered into an elastic waistband.

Color has taken possession of the tennis court, as white has been declared taboo because it is unbecom- ing to most girls and because it soils so easily. The head bandeau matches the shade of the tennis frock this year and no hats are worn except, now and then, a soft little affair of white, felt, yellow, tan, jade and old blue are favorite colors of the tennis girl.

DRESS NOTIONS FOR VACATIONS

By HEDDA LOYD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
New York, July 6.—No girl wears her heart on her sleeve these days. But the practical tennis girl wears than a tailored suit with a white blouse for traveling in the summer months. One needs clothes with long lines and with sleeves loose at the wrists and the dark one-piece dress has both of these qualifications. Of course there must be an accom- panying jacket, a short cape or a top coat as the wearer prefers.

For an ocean voyage I should re- commend a topcoat, two dark gowns, one of silk crepe and one of a light weight, cloth material, two dinner dresses of lace or some equally un- crushable material, a dancing frock and two sport jackets with separa- ate skirts for morning wear. This list can be augmented according to one's pocketbook but it should prove adequate for any ocean voyage of ten days.

Felt hats are considered quite as smart as straw hats this summer, but if the warm days continue it is hoped that we will see less of them. Any hat that heats the head is undesirable, as nothing does more toward making the hair fall out. We are all inclined to lose hair more freely in summer than in winter months and we should do all that we can to prevent unnecessary falling of the hair.

"Best Batch of Bread I've Ever Baked!"

"It must be the Flour—I never would have believed it."

Yes, you are right, this Flour is different—different in that it contains more of the nourishing food-value—more protein—what the bakers call a "strong flour"—and (here is a point) it costs more, because it is not "milled close".

It's a "thirsty flour"—absorbs more water—makes more loaves to the sack—there- fore the most economical. And this is true, it keeps the baking fresh and palatable longer because of the protein content and water absorbing quality.

Use "Miss Minneapolis" Flour not alone for bread—it is also better for biscuits, rolls, cookies and general use.

Our challenge to you is to try it—AT OUR EXPENSE, for you may return the partially used sack, if not entirely satisfied and the grocer will refund the full purchase price. What could be fairer to your family? Try it.

Cherry and Rice Salad

Mold cooked, seasoned rice, moistened with a little cream and butter, in a shallow dish, and when firm, cut in small dice. Remove the stones from a pint of oxheart cherries and place in the pit cavities half a walnut meat. Add to the cherries a small cup of grated fresh pineapple, and half a cup of large strawberries, cut in halves. Then mix in lightly the diced rice, heap in lettuce cups and dress with a honey cream dressing. If the fruit is very tart sprinkle with powdered sugar and chill for several hours in the refrigerator. Be sure the fruit is thoroughly drained before blending the salad.

DAN CUPID HAS A BUSY MONTH

Month of June Upholds its Reputation as the "Month of Brides"

40 LICENSES WERE ISSUED

In One-third of the Cases Named Groom Was Not a Resident of Crow Wing County

The month of June upheld its reputation, as being the "Month of Brides." It broke all records for 1923 with a total of forty marriage licenses issued by Clerk of the Courts W. A. M. Johnstone. The list of these licenses follows:

June 1st—Donald Benton to Pearl McCarthy.

June 1st—Charlie C. Sweet to Elizabeth Marie Bressen.

June 2nd—Robert Earl Sullivan to Dora May Greer.

June 2nd—Benjamin Krause, Washington County, Wis., to Frieda Heldtke.

June 4th—William G. Handeland to Ethel Julia Madsen.

June 4th—Eric E. Schultz, Todd County, to Mabel E. Rodean.

June 5th—Leo A. Knuth, Ramsey County, to Emma M. Jaeger.

June 5th—Joel Borders to Anna Louise Spencer.

June 9th—C. J. Listrum, Ottertail County, to Grace Gertrude White.

June 9th—John White Oldfield, Carlton County, to May Dorothea Jones.

June 11th—Robert L. Johnson, Sargent County, N. D., to Anna Benson.

June 11th—Edward Albert Crust to Rachel Lillian Templeton.

June 12th—Emory A. Johnson, Douglas County, to Florence E. Johnson.

June 12th—Chris H. Stedfeld to Minna E. Rathert.

June 15th—Joseph Tatro to Bessie Blount.

June 16th—Carroll Dingman to Emma May Ellis.

June 16th—Charles Edward Hall to Elaine Deloris Larson.

June 16th—Clifford W. Okerland, Ottertail County, to Myrtle Mary Ross.

June 18th—Jeffred W. Leighton to Hilda D. Ulvinen.

June 18th—Soren Tellefson to Gerda Christine Johnson.

June 18th—Benjamin Haberer, Hubbard County, to Gertrude Claire Tucker.

June 18th—John P. Erickson to Caroline Erickson.

June 20th—Ira L. Tomlinson to Ina May Anderson.

June 20th—Walter G. Peterson to Marguerite Lillian Anderson.

June 20th—Wilbur T. Immel Wells County, N. D., to Loloe Mae Carlisle.

June 20th—Wilfred E. Houle to Martha B. Murphy.

WITHOUT COMPROMISE—WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION.

William Farnum in a High Tension Western Picture

William Farnum, the popular big Fox star, will be seen at the Lyceum Theatre, tonight and Saturday, in "Without Compromise," his latest production.

A strong and vivid personality is William Farnum, and no actor on the screen has a greater following.

This is as much due to his ability to vitalize his characterizations, as it is to the general fitness of the roles he portrays and the excellence of his productions.

In "Without Compromise," Farnum has many opportunities to display that versatile and facile talent that has won for him an enduring place in the hearts of picture fans.

The Original Brown Saxophone Sextette at the Park on Saturday and Sunday. David Bolduc and his saxophone band are sure entertainers.

June 22nd—William A. Hallen-Berg to Althea Williams.

June 23rd—Colen Peter to Mary Anderson.

June 23rd—Nickolas B. Polman to Mary G. Philipp.

June 25th—Albert Sanregret, Hennepin County, to Marie Graber.

June 25th—Leslie L. Halladay, Hennepin County, to Nellie A. Swanson.

June 26th—Harold C. Canfield to Ethel M. Tauck.

June 26th—Adolph J. Staub to Ethel M. Stanley.

June 26th—Robert Swanson to Esther Wicklund.

June 27th—Charles J. Coggin to Carrie D. Petersen.

June 27th—Lee Edward Jacobs to Angeline Elizabeth Stella Gauthier.

June 27th—Frank T. Prosser to Laura Sophie Lyng.

June 28th—Oscar Frederick Rodean to Emma Mathilde Berg.

June 30th—Clarence C. Rappel to Ellen Virginia Irwin.

June 30th—Harold O. Gorten to Martha J. Skarry.

It will be seen that one-third of these licenses were issued in cases where the groom was not a resident of Crow Wing county. This is the largest percentage of such marriages of any in the past twelve months, and means that a third of the girls in this county have moved elsewhere to make their future home.

AMUSEMENTS

Wall Street Romance in "Lights of New York"

It was once said of Wall Street, and quite truthfully, that it starts in a graveyard and ends in a river. At one end of the street stands the famous old Trinity church, at the other is the East river. If it had been planned in advance that Wall Street was to be the mecca of the world's speculators, no more appropriate terminals to the street could have been suggested. Around the corner on Broad Street, stands the imposing structure of the New York Stock exchange.

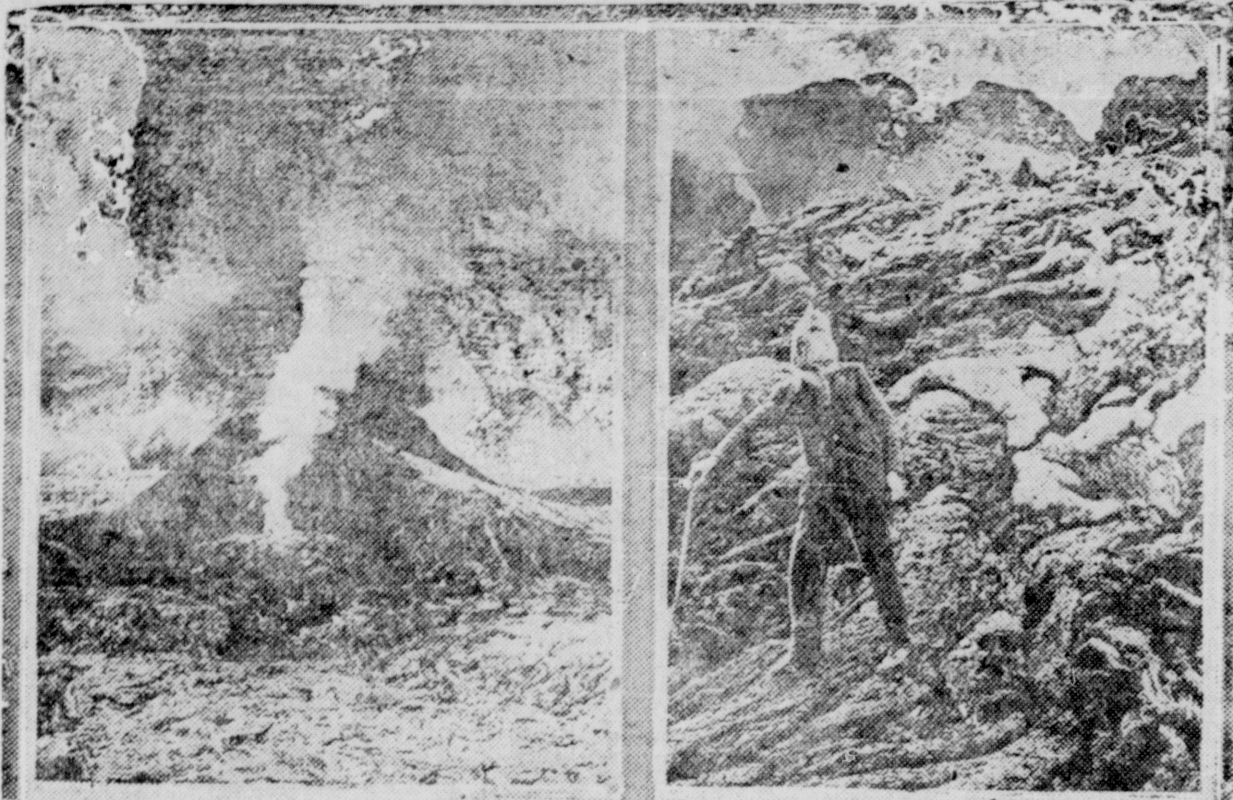

It will be at the Lyceum Theatre beginning Sunday.

Viola Dana Film

All the beauty, youth and freshness that is Viola Dana has been captured anew for the screen in her latest starring play, "A Noise in Newboro," which comes to the Park Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. According to advance reports, this latest Metro vehicle for the winsome little star is filled with nerve and action, qualities which stress her abilities. And her abilities are many and varied, as this picture will show. She is sad, frolicsome, depressed and light-hearted, chiefly light-hearted.

Sometimes It Pays

Sometimes it pays to go to a bank and borrow money. Sometimes borrowing money is the wisest and most profitable thing in the world to do.

But bankers never employed the slogan, "It pays to borrow."

Rather, they counsel carefully with a man before they advise him to borrow—for his own safety, as well as their own. They do not promote borrowing as something practically sure of success.

Perhaps that is one reason why bankers have never understood the expression, "It pays to advertise."

Advertising sometimes pays, just as borrowing sometimes pays, just as investment sometimes pays, just as manufacturing sometimes pays.

Advertising is not the sum of all the economic laws. The man who uses advertising must have a different conception of it than as something that is sure to pay.

That is what advertising agencies are for—to keep men from believing things about advertising that are not true.

DAN CUPID HAS A BUSY MONTH

Month of June Upholds its Reputation as the "Month of Brides"

40 LICENSES WERE ISSUED

In One-third of the Cases Named Groom Was Not a Resident of Crow Wing County

The month of June upheld its reputation, as being the "Month of Brides." It broke all records for 1923 with a total of forty marriage licenses issued by Clerk of the Courts W. A. M. Johnstone. The list of these licenses follows:

June 1st—Donald Benton to Pearl McCarthy.

June 1st—Charlie C. Sweet to Elizabeth Marie Bressen.

June 2nd—Robert Earl Sullivan to Dora May Greer.

June 2nd—Benjamin Krause, Washington County, Wis., to Frieda Heidtke.

June 4th—William G. Handeland to Ethel Julia Madsen.

June 4th—Eric E. Schultz, Todd County, to Mabel E. Rodean.

June 5th—Leo A. Knuth, Ramsey County, to Emma M. Jaeger.

June 5th—Joel Borders to Anna Louise Spencer.

June 9th—C. J. Listrum, Ottertail County, to Grace Gertrude White.

June 9th—John White Oldfield, Carlton County, to May Dorothea Jones.

June 15th—Joseph Tatro to Bessie Blount.

June 16th—Carrol Dingman to Emma May Ellis.

June 16th—Charles Edward Hall to Elaine Deloris Larson.

June 16th—Clifford W. Okerland, Ottertail County, to Myrtle Mary Ross.

June 18th—Jeffred W. Leighton to Hilda D. Olvinen.

June 18th—Soren Tollefson to Gerda Christine Johnson.

June 18th—Benjamin Haberer, Hubbard County, to Gertrude Claire Tucker.

June 18th—John P. Erickson to Caroline Erickson.

June 20th—Ira L. Tomlinson to Ina May Anderson.

June 20th—Walter G. Peterson to Marguerite Lillian Anderson.

June 20th—Wilbur T. Immel Wells County, N. D., to Loloa Mae Carlisle.

June 20th—Wilfred E. Hoult to Martha B. Murphy.

"WITHOUT COMPROMISE" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION.

William Farnum in a High Tension Western Picture

William Farnum, the popular big Fox star, will be seen at the Lyceum Theatre, tonight and Saturday, in "Without Compromise," his latest production.

A strong and vivid personality is William Farnum, and no actor on the screen has a greater following.

This is as much due to his ability to vitalize his characterizations, as it is to the general fitness of the roles he portrays and the excellence of his productions.

In "Without Compromise," Farnum has many opportunities to display that versatile and facile talent that has won for him an enduring place in the hearts of picture fans.

The Original Brown Saxophone Sextette at the Park on Saturday and Sunday. David Bolduc and his saxophone band are sure entertainers.

June 22nd—William A. Hallen-Berg to Althea Williams.

June 23rd—Colen Peter to Mary Anderson.

June 23rd—Nickolas B. Polman to Mary G. Philipp.

June 25th—Albert Sanregret, Hennepin County, to Marie Graber.

June 25th—Leslie L. Halladay, Hennepin County, to Nellie A. Swanson.

June 26th—Harold C. Canfield to Ethel M. Tauck.

June 26th—Adolph J. Staub to Ethel M. Stanley.

June 26th—Robert Swanson to Esther Wicklund.

June 27th—Charles J. Coggin to Carrie D. Petersen.

June 27th—Lee Edward Jacobs to Angeline Elizabeth Stella Gauthier.

June 27th—Frank T. Prosser to Laura Sophie Lyng.

June 28th—Oscar Frederick Rodean to Emma Mathilde Berg.

June 30th—Clarence C. Rappel to Ellen Virginia Irwin.

June 30th—Harold O. Gorten to Martha J. Skarry.

It will be seen that one-third of these licenses were issued in cases where the groom was not a resident of Crow Wing county. This is the largest percentage of such marriages of any in the past twelve months, and means that a third of the girls in this county have moved elsewhere to make their future home.

LITTLE GIRL STRUCK BY CAR

Agnes Marchel, Age 5, Daughter of Kaspar Marchel, Was Seriously Injured

JUMPED FROM REAR OF WAGON Ran Across Street and Directly in Path of Approaching Tourist's Automobile

Little Agnes Marchel, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaspar Marchel, 310 North 10th street, was quite seriously injured at five o'clock Thursday evening, when struck by a passing automobile on Kingwood street between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The little girl, in company with a playmate is said to have been riding on the rear end of a coal wagon going down Kingwood street. Both children jumped off the wagon in the middle of the block, and started to run across the street.

The one child gained the sidewalk in safety, but a passing automobile struck the little Marchel girl, throwing her to the pavement. The center of the car passed over her body, without injuring her from that source, but she suffered severe injuries about the head from being thrown to the pavement.

The driver of the automobile was H. R. Nelson, of Tracy, Minnesota, a tourist just passing through the city. While not directly at fault for the accident, Mr. Nelson feels his responsibility keenly. He appeared at the police station and at the office of the city attorney, giving a complete story of the case and exhibited his willingness to do everything possible in the matter.

IRONTON MAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Crosby, July 6.—Edward Anderson, Ironton, was killed late Wednesday, when he was crushed behind the steering wheel as his car went into a ditch near Atkin.

The accident victim was a craneer at the Mahanomeh mine.

John Karzina received a broken arm and was badly cut about the head when a car in which he was riding was overturned near Cuyuna. Stubb Harrison sustained a broken shoulder blade when a car he was driving, crashed into a car without lights, when he turned out to avoid a car driving with blinding lights.

MINNESOTA'S RICH MARL

Syndicate of Iowa Men Purchase Large Tract of Marl Land Near Backus

ENGINEERS INSPECT DEPOSIT Intention of Company to Install Washing Plant and Begin Operations at Once

The publicity given Northern Minnesota's rich marl deposits is interesting outside companies, the latest being a syndicate of Iowa men who have purchased a tract near Backus, Minn., and are now in this section looking over their holdings with the view of developing them at once.

In the party who visited Braierd Wednesday were Dr. Frank E. Fouk and Dr. Weston of Des Moines, Iowa and Mr. Decker, a Chicago construction engineer.

The company these men represent has back of it several million dollars and is able to finance a large undertaking. All of the individuals concerned are very enthusiastic over the possibilities of developing the marl industry.

Some sixty-eight acres, containing rich marl deposits, have been purchased near Backus, on the Carl Brown farm, and it is the intention of the company to install a washing plant and begin operations at once.

The visitors named above were in consultation Thursday morning with County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy regarding the use of marl in road construction. Mr. Murphy escorted the gentlemen over the highways of the county on a tour of inspection, especially those roads that have been treated with marl.

A consultation was also held with County Agent E. G. Roth, relative to the use of marl as a land fertilizer. In which branch of the industry the company are very much interested.

With a plant which can furnish marl for both agricultural and road building purposes, and with a deposit of marl of such a quality to be of value for cement manufacture, the new company has very good prospects to become one of the foremost industries in this section of the state, according to those who are familiar with the situation.

Dr. Frank E. Fouk of Des Moines, Iowa, is not a stranger to Northern Minnesota. He is a real "Dirt Farmer," owning a fine ranch, known as "Cloverleaf Farm" near Backus, comprising 1117 acres, and is one of the best improved farms in this part of the state.

Mrs. Zakonick of Trommald, charged with the manufacture of liquor was arraigned in municipal court and will be given a preliminary examination on next Wednesday. Officers, in raiding her house, found a still in operation, and eight gallons of the finished product in addition to some little mash.

Rappel-Irwin

The first wedding of the month to take place on Monday morning, July 2nd, when Miss Eileen Virginia Irwin, was united in marriage to Clarence Rappel at the Catholic parsonage. Rev. Father James Hogan officiating.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in a sand colored tulle crepe gown, and carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow tea roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Maude Irwin, who wore a beautiful gown of blue tulle crepe with a corsage of yellow tea roses. The groom was attended by James McGarry.

Mr. and Mrs. Rappel are very well and favorably known in this city. The bride is a graduate of the Braierd high school and has lately been employed in the offices at the Northern Pacific shops.

The groom is in charge of the repair department of the Rosko garage, where he has been employed for a number of years.

Following the ceremony the wedding party was served a delicious breakfast at the Rosko garage. The bride and groom will be at home to their many friends at 219 Bluff Avenue.

ANGEL OF SIBERIA TO SPEAK IN CITY

Miss Elsa Brandstrom, One of the World's Greatest War Heroines, to Tell of Experiences

AT CLARA LUTHERAN CHURCH Her Daring and Steadfast Purpose Led Her Into Many Wonderful Adventures

An unusual opportunity to hear one of the world's greatest heroines tell her own thrilling and touching story will come when Miss Elsa Brandstrom arrives in Braierd on her lecture trip, speaking Saturday evening in the English language at the Clara Lutheran church.

This is the young Swedish woman who earned the title, "The Angel of Siberia," conferred upon her by thousands of grateful war prisoners, among whom she labored in Russia and Siberia, from the very beginning of the world war until two years after its close. She is now on a two months' lecture tour in this country, after which she will return to Europe to continue her work of charity.

Miss Brandstrom, typical nordic blonde of charming girlishness, is the daughter of the late General Brandstrom, who was Swedish minister to the Russian Empire. She was with her father at his post when the war broke out, and, almost as soon as the first prisoners came in, began to do local relief work on a small scale. Her ability and courage were drawn upon more and more as the war progressed and conditions grew worse. And finally, when the czarist regime was overthrown, thousands of prisoners were left sick and destitute in the wild wastes of Siberia. Miss Brandstrom asserted her leadership, and, working with the Red Cross and other relief organizations, spared herself no personal suffering in order that the terrible lot of the war victims might be alleviated.

Her daring and steadfast purpose led her into many adventures. She chose to remain in Russia when all relief workers had been ordered out by the Bolsheviks, and she was arrested more than once by the Soviet authorities. Though she is extremely modest, she may tell her audience of how she quelled a mutiny of two thousand prisoners, who declared that they would rather be shot down than continue under their captors. And she may also tell of some of the terrors of traveling through disease-infected Siberia at a time when all conveniences of travel had been destroyed.

But Miss Brandstrom has not come to this country merely to tell stirring tales. She is still laboring in the cause of charity. Thousands of men—Germans, Austrians, Bohemians and Turks—who escaped death while prisoners of war, have now been repatriated. She found those repatriated prisoners in most cases to be mental and physical wrecks and wholly incapable of entering normal life to make a living for themselves. Many of them were turned away from the homes of their own 'in who were unable or unwilling to support them. Miss Brandstrom then set herself to help these miserable human derelicts and found that what they needed more than anything else was a period of recuperation in peaceful surroundings and at the same time an opportunity to engage in useful work tending toward their own self-support. Miss Brandstrom now applied certain relief funds left over from the work in Russia, together with private contributions in Sweden and the income from her own writings and lectures, toward the purchase of a hospital and a farm in Saxony, which are being turned into a productive sanatorium. These establishments can accommodate at least four hundred men, whose care will be under the general direction of Miss Brandstrom.

This is for the living ex-soldiers, but those who died in the prison camps left a multitude of women and children sorrowing and without support. These innocent ones, too, have touched the heart of the "Angel of Siberia," and she is now directing all her generous energy toward raising funds with which to procure a recreation home in Germany for these stricken widows and children, thus enabling them to escape from the slums of the great cities.

H. F. MICHAEL TELLS OF TRIP

Former President of the Braierd Rotary Club Attended the International Convention

GOOD FELLOWSHIP REIGNED Convention City is Praised for the Fine Hospitality Shown the Guests at Gathering

At a recent Rotary club luncheon, former President H. F. Michael, delegate from the local club, related his experiences at the international convention held in St. Louis. On his way down Mr. Michael met with a group of Canadian Rotarians and traveled with them to St. Louis.

He praised the convention city highly for its fine hospitality. Private automobiles marked "Rotarian, Hop In," conveyed them about when necessary. A large open air municipal theatre was the scene of the opening entertainment. In the pageant staged, Columbia appeared and the Boy Scouts came with flags from each Rotarian country. The Garden of Rotary was presented by young ladies.

The daily programs were on most practical topics. President Ray voiced the fact that this was a congress not of theorists, but one in which the human heart and brain had full play. The triumphs of peace were greater than those of war.

The introduction of the foreign delegates to the convention was especially inspiring. The twelve from New Zealand thanked James Davies for bringing Rotary to their country. The Mexican delegate voiced the feelings of his native country.

Mr. Michael spoke of the various resolutions presented, some adopted and some voted down. The next convention is to confine itself solely to an exposition of business methods. The Rotary emblem is not to be used in business advertising. The matter of attendance records was referred to the districts.

A portion of one afternoon was devoted to boys' work, and five minute addresses were made by delegates. Mr. Michael reviewed the address given by President Warren G. Harding. The latter emphasized the need of humble, honest, helpful service to bring out a new social order.

Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer of Braierd also attended the St. Louis convention and both have spoken highly of the splendid programs presented.

Among the visitors at the Braierd Rotary luncheon were Fred Durand of Junction City, Kansas; Gillis Q. Lake of Kansas City, Kansas; H. Mayne Stanton of Duluth; and Clarence Meserve of St. Paul.

John F. Woodhead spoke on Boy Scout work.

President R. A. Beise summed up the work already done.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Mike Laner Charged With Making Beer at His Place in the Country

Mike Laner paid a fine of $100 and costs amounting to $6 in municipal court Friday morning, pleading guilty to a charge of maintaining a nuisance. Laner, it is charged, was making beer at his place on Red Sand Lake.

Mrs. Zakonick of Trommald, charged with the manufacture of liquor was arraigned in municipal court and will be given a preliminary examination on next Wednesday.

Officers, in raiding her house, found a still in operation, and eight gallons of the finished product in addition to some little mash.

Rappel-Irwin

The first wedding of the month to take place on Monday morning, July 2nd, when Miss Eileen Virginia Irwin, was united in marriage to Clarence Rappel at the Catholic parsonage. Rev. Father James Hogan officiating.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in a sand colored canton crepe gown, and carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow tea roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Maude Irwin, who wore a beautiful gown of blue canton crepe with a corsage of yellow tea roses. The groom was attended by James McGarry.

Mr. and Mrs. Rappel are very well and favorably known in this city. The bride is a graduate of the Brainerd high school and has lately been employed in the offices at the Northern Pacific shops.

The groom is in charge of the repair department of the Rosko garage, where he has been employed for a number of years.

Following the ceremony the wedding party was served a delicious breakfast at the hotel. It was followed by the bridesmaids immediately afterward. After a ten-day honeymoon they will be at home to their many friends at 219 Bluff Avenue.

ANGEL OF SIBERIA

TO SPEAK IN CITY

Miss Elsa Brandstrom, One of the World's Greatest War Heroines, to Tell of Experiences

AT CLARA LUTHERAN CHURCH

Her Daring and Steadfast Purpose Led Her Into Many Wonderful Adventures

An unusual opportunity to hear one of the world's greatest heroines tell her own thrilling and touching story will come when Miss Elsa Brandstrom arrives in Brainerd on her lecture trip, speaking Saturday evening in the English language at the Clara Lutheran church.

This is the young Swedish woman who earned the title, "The Angel of Siberia," conferred upon her by thousands of grateful war prisoners, among whom she labored in Russia and Siberia, from the very beginning of the world war until two years after its close. She is now on a two months' lecture tour in this country, after which she will return to Europe to continue her work of charity.

Miss Brandstrom, typical nordic blonde of charming girlishness, is the daughter of the late General Brandstrom, who was Swedish minister to the Russian Empire. She was with her father at his post when the war broke out, and, almost as soon as the first prisoners came in, began to do local relief work on a small scale. Her ability and courage were drawn upon more and more as the war progressed and conditions grew worse. And finally, when the czarist regime was overthrown, thousands of prisoners were left sick and destitute in the wild wastes of Siberia. Miss Brandstrom asserted her leadership, and, working with the Red Cross and other relief organizations, spared herself no personal suffering in order that the terrible lot of the war victims might be alleviated.

Her daring and steadfast purpose led her into many adventures. She chose to remain in Russia when all relief workers had been ordered out by the Bolsheviks, and she was arrested more than once by the Soviet authorities. Though she is extremely modest, she may tell her audience of how she pulled a matry of two thousand prisoners, who declared that they would rather be shot down than continue under their captors. And she may also tell of some of the terrors of traveling through disease-infected Siberia at a time when all conveniences of travel had been destroyed.

But Miss Brandstrom has not come to this country merely to tell stirring tales. She is still laboring in the cause of charity. Thousands of men—Germans, Austrians, Bohemians and Turks—who escaped death while prisoners of war, have now been repatriated. She found those repatriated prisoners in most cases to be mental and physical wrecks and wholly incapable of entering normal life to make a living for themselves. Many of them were turned away from the homes of their own kind who were unable or unwilling to support them. Miss Brandstrom then set herself to help these miserable human derelicts and found that what they needed more than anything else was a period of recuperation in peaceful surroundings and at the same time an opportunity to engage in useful work tending toward their own self-support.

Miss Brandstrom now applied certain relief funds left over from the work in Russia, together with private contributions in Sweden and the income from her own writings and lectures, toward the purchase of a hospital and a farm in Saxony, which are being turned into a productive sanatorium. These establishments can accommodate at least four hundred men, whose care will be under the general direction of Miss Brandstrom.

This is for the living ex-soldiers, but those who died in the prison camps left a multitude of women and children sorrowing and without support. These innocent ones, too, have touched the heart of the "Angel of Siberia," and she is now directing all her generous energy toward raising funds with which to procure a recreation home in Germany for these stricken widows and children, thus enabling them to escape from the slums of the great cities.

TELLS OF TRIP

Former President of the Brainerd Rotary Club Attended the International Convention

GOOD FELLOWSHIP REIGNED

Convention City is Praised for the Fine Hospitality Shown the Guests at Gathering

At a recent Rotary club luncheon, former President H. F. Michael, delegate from the local club, related his experiences at the international convention held in St. Louis. On his way down Mr. Michael met with a group of Canadian Rotarians and traveled with them to St. Louis.

He praised the convention city highly for its fine hospitality. Private automobiles marked "Rotarian, Hop In," conveyed them about when necessary. A large open air municipal theatre was the scene of the opening entertainment. In the pageant staged, Columbia appeared and the Boy Scouts came with flags from each Rotarian country. The Garden of Rotary was presented by young ladies.

The daily programs were on most practical topics. President Ray voiced the fact that this was a congress not of theorists, but one in which the human heart and brain had full play. The triumphs of peace were greater than those of war.

The introduction of the foreign delegates to the convention was especially inspiring. The twelve from New Zealand thanked James Davies for bringing Rotary to their country. The Mexican delegate voiced the feelings of his native country.

Mr. Michael spoke of the various resolutions presented, some adopted and some voted down. The next convention is to confine itself solely to an exposition of business methods. The Rotary emblem is not to be used in business advertising. The matter of attendance records was referred to the districts.

A portion of one afternoon was devoted to boys' work, and five minute addresses were made by delegates. Mr. Michael reviewed the address given by President Warren G. Harding. The latter emphasized the need of humble, honest, helpful service to bring out a new social order.

Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer of Brainerd also attended the St. Louis convention and both have spoken highly of the splendid programs presented.

Among the visitors at the Brainerd Rotary luncheon were Fred Durand of Junction City, Kansas; Gillis Q. Lake of Kansas City, Kansas; H. Mayne Stanton of Duluth; and Clarence Meserve of St. Paul.

John F. Woodhead spoke on Boy Scout work.

President R. A. Beise summed up the work already done.

Heavy Snowfalls.

At some places in the Sierra Nevada and the Cascade mountains from 30 to 40 feet of snow falls during the winter months. At Summit, Cal., which has an elevation of about 7,000 feet, there has been recorded 60 feet of snow in a single season and about 25 feet in a single month.

COLLEGE STARS SHUN PROFESSIONAL B. B.

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

New York, July 6.—Collegiate baseball, which supplied the major leagues with the greatest stars of the last five years, is suddenly abandoning the cause.

Eastern colleges have just closed what is considered the most successful season in years in the point of development of prospects. But the young grads won't listen to the offers of the magnates. They think they can cash in on their education to a better personal advantage in some other profession.

The Pittsburgh Nationals were willing to pay $10,000 to Owen Carroll, of the Holy Cross, the big outstanding star of the year. He is a great right handed pitcher and the Pirates wanted him to finish the season with them.

But Carroll disdained the offer. It is understood he intends entering the priesthood.

Right behind Carroll in the east there is Bob Carney, the Princeton left-hander; Walter Huntzinger of Pennsylvania, Jimmie Kelly of Boston College and Pauly Kinney of Colgate. Huntzinger has signed with the New York Giants.

The others who have shown in competition and who must be included in the first flight of pitchers are: Caldwell of Princeton, Seaman of Lafayette, McCaffrey of Providence College, Pond of Yale, Thorpe of New York University, Young of Harvard and Swetonic of Pittsburgh. McCaffrey is joining the Rochester International League club.

Out of all those premier pitchers only one is even going to the major league for a trial.

And, remember, that the colleges sent Frank Frisch, Eddie Collins, Coombs, Plank and many other stars of their calibre up to the big league limelight.

"Meet Me, I'm Champ," Says Luis Angel When Fight News Comes In

New York, July 6.—"Meet Luis Angel Firpo, the next heavyweight champion of the world," exclaimed the big South American fighter when told the result of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. "I always thought I could beat Dempsey, but now I'm sure that I can knock him out. I never gave Gibbons much consideration."

Jess Willard, who meets Firpo a week from today, for the privilege of fighting Dempsey for the heavyweight crown, merely grunted when reached at his training quarters in Yonkers, and said:

BROTHERS WIN PACIFIC COAST DOUBLES TITLE

Los Angeles, July 6.—Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco won the Pacific coast men's doubles championship tennis tournament yesterday, defeating Harvey Snodgrass and Nat Brown of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. By virtue of their victory the Kinseys will represent the Pacific coast in the national doubles tournament at Boston on August 20.

BELYEA DEFEATED IN HENLEY REGATTA

(By United Press)
Henley, England, July 6.—Hilton Belyea, scull champion of Canada, was defeated in the classic Henley regatta today by Dr. K. L. Gollan, deaf and dumb British scull conqueror of Walter Hoover, American world champion. The race was the tenth heat of the competition for the Diamond Sculls won by Hoover last year. Belyea was beaten by a length and a quarter in 8 minutes, 11 seconds.

Walter Ferch is Killed In Milwaukee Auto Race

Milwaukee, July 6.—Walter (speedy) French died in a hospital here last night from injuries received yesterday in an automobile race held at the state fair park.

French's car skidded while rounding a curve. The car following crashed into French's before he could regain control. The collision caused fatal injuries to French.

CREATING STIR IN BASEBALL WORLD

"Spark Plug" Matthews, center fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, who is playing at top form, reminds the fans a great deal of "Rabbit" Maranville, star shortstop of the Pittsburgh team, catching the ball as the "Rabbit" does close to his body. He is a leading factor in Connie Mack's rejuvenated Athletics who are giving the Yanks a tough battle for the leadership of the American League.

SINGING AFFECTS THE INSANE

Tired Brains and Irritated Nerves Said to Be Soothed by Music and the Human Voice.

Experiments are being tried at the New York State Hospital for Insane on Ward's island with the human voice, and physicians and attendants say that there is evidence that tired brains are rested and irritated nerves soothed by song. Theories evolved from studying "reactions" of insane patients prove that vocal music has a more powerful influence over the average insane person than instrumental.

A series of concerts is to be given at the hospital and results will be carefully watched to determine just what measure of relief is given. Music has been used for this purpose in Germany with great success for many years and the alienists are able to say that kinds of music have the proper effect upon individual cases. The soprano voice is said to be most beneficial to cases of acute melancholia.

The tenor voice, high and clear, has the best effect on persons having softening of the brain, while the deep, rich tones of the baritone affect particularly paranoiacs. It is a mystery yet to be explained by science why a mind unbalanced is abnormally sensitive to musical vibrations. A professional pianist in Russia, trying piano solos on patients, found that "jazz" was positively harmful, while soft, soothing, restful music would quiet the most violent.

REST FOR BRAIN

Proper Periods for Sleeping Are Imperative.

No Substitute for "Nature's Sweet Restorer" Has Been Found, or Is Likely to Be.

An American doctor has been trying to find a substitute for sleep.

He has calculated that we spend about one-third of our lives in more or less complete unconsciousness and that the average man of fifty-one has been asleep for seventeen years, says a specialist in an article in the Central China Post.

The idea is that this is a great waste of life, and that if one could take a pill, or a dose of medicine instead of going to bed he would really have added many years to his allotted span.

But the research for such a substitute failed, utterly and hopelessly. There is no substitute for sleep. Not one of the imitations is even "nearly as good."

It was only when the brain itself came to be studied that the real meaning of sleep was found. The brain contains vast numbers of cells, each of which is related to some part of the body, just as an electric switch is related to some lamp or bell. The whole power and strength of the body depend on the brain cells.

Up till a short time ago we knew very little about these strange structures. We were able to look at them with a microscope, and we could stain them with various dyes so that they showed up quite clearly against the rest of the brain matter.

And then one doctor, more observant than his fellows, noticed a strange thing. Sometimes the brain cells did not stain so well or so darkly as at other times. The little, vital cells were pale and indistinct instead of being clear and dark.

A great many people began to try to find out what this mysterious substance of the brain was. All kinds of strange experiments were carried out.

For example, if the brain of a hare which had been coarsened was examined, the brain cells were empty of the mysterious substance. The brain cells stained poorly and indistinctly.

The brains of men worn out in battle, or killed in condition of great strain, were also empty. And if a man had had no sleep for long periods, his supply of mystery substance was very low.

Gradually the knowledge came that during all efforts, both of mind and body, we use up this strange substance until at last our brain cells are empty of it. And then we can do no more. Unless we can get a new supply we perish.

It is sleep which brings the new supply. It is sleep which fills the brain cells afresh with their vital mystery substance. It is sleep which saves us from utter exhaustion, and even from death. By no other means can we make our brains fit to work again.

Going Around the World.

The records for traveling around the globe are:

Magellan expedition, 1519-1522, three years; Phineas Fogg, 1872, 80 days; Nellie Bly, 1889, 72 days; George Francis Train, 1890, 67 days; Charles Fitzmorris, 1901, 60 days; Henry Frederick, 1903, 54 days; Col. Burnley Campbell, 1907, 40 days; Andre Jaeger-Schmidt, 1911, 39 days; John Henry Mears, 1913, 35 days.

Mr. Mears, the present record holder, says that he could not repeat his 1913 feat today, because the Trans-Siberian railroad is closed. That railway was the biggest factor in reducing the time for traveling around the globe. To make the journey by airplane, Mr. Mears says, would require only about twelve and a half days in actual flying time, but probably six months on account of delays "between hops."

Pride Goeth Before a Fall.

A young society matron was taking her baby for an airing in its buggy. She was fairly strutting down the boulevard, so great was her pride in this first born. Two little girls, playing on the apartment steps, smiled at her as she passed. One of them turned to the other and said, "Now, that's what I'm going to be when I grow up. I'm going to be a maid, so I can take people's babies out for an airing."—Kansas City Star.

Eastern colleges have just closed what is considered the most successful season in years in the point of development of prospects. But the young grads won't listen to the offers of the magnates. They think they can cash in on their education to a better personal advantage in some other profession.

The Pittsburgh Nationals were willing to pay $10,000 to Owen Carroll, of the Holy Cross, the big outstanding star of the year. He is a great right handed pitcher and the Pirates wanted him to finish the season with them. But Carroll disdained the offer. It is understood he intends entering the priesthood.

Right behind Carroll in the east there is Bob Carney, the Princeton left-hander; Walter Huntzinger of Pennsylvania, Jimmie Kelly of Boston College and Pauly Kinney of Colgate. Huntzinger has signed with the New York Giants.

The others who have shown in competition and who must be included in the first flight of pitchers are: Caldwell of Princeton, Seaman of Lafayette, McCaffrey of Providence College, Pond of Yale, Thorpe of New York University, Young of Harvard and Sweeton of Pittsburgh. McCaffrey is joining the Rochester International League club.

Out of all those premier pitchers only one is even going to the major league for a trial.

And, remember, that the colleges sent Frank Frisch, Eddie Collins, Coombs, Plank and many other stars of their calibre up to the big league limelight.

"Meet Me, I'm Champ," Says Luis Angel When Fight News Comes In

New York, July 6.—"Meet Luis Angel Firpo, the next heavyweight champion of the world," exclaimed the big South American fighter when told the result of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. "I always thought I could beat Dempsey, but now I'm sure that I can knock him out. I never gave Gibbons much consideration."

Jess Willard, who meets Firpo a week from today, for the privilege of fighting Dempsey for the heavyweight crown, merely grunted when reached at his training quarters in Yonkers, and said:

"Oh, is that so?"

BROTHERS WIN PACIFIC COAST DOUBLES TITLE

Los Angeles, July 6.—Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco won the Pacific coast men's doubles championship tennis tournament yesterday, defeating Harvey Snodgrass and Nat Brown of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. By virtue of their victory the Kinseys will represent the Pacific coast in the national doubles tournament at Boston on August 29.

BELYEA DEFEATED IN HENLEY REGATTA

(By United Press) Henley, England, July 6.—Hilton Belyea, scull champion of Canada, was defeated in the classic Henley regatta today by Dr. K. L. Gollan, deaf and dumb British scull conqueror of Walter Hoover, American world champion. The race was the tenth heat of the competition for the Diamond Sculls won by Hoover last year. Belyea was beaten by a length and a quarter in 8 minutes, 11 seconds.

Walter Ferch is Killed In Milwaukee Auto Race

Milwaukee, July 6.—Walter (speedy) French died in a hospital here last night from injuries received yesterday in an automobile race held at the state fair park. French's car skidded while rounding a curve. The car following crashed into French's before he could regain control. The collision caused fatal injuries to French.

SOUTH LONG LAKE, 2; N. P. ALL STARS, 0

The recent game between South Long Lake and the N. P. All Stars should have been reported as a 2 to 0 win for South Long Lake, according to third baseman J. C. Thompson of the South Long Lake team.

GIRL SWIMMER BREAKS OWN WORLD'S RECORD

Rye, N. Y., July 6.—Gertrude Ederle of the Women's Swimming association, yesterday shattered her own world's record for 220 yards, free style, in open water. Her time of 2 minutes 49 seconds was 1-5 of a second faster than her former mark.

CREATING STIR IN BASEBALL WORLD

"Spark Plug" Matthews, center fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, who is playing at top form, reminds the fans a great deal of "Rabbit" Maranville, star shortstop of the Pittsburgh team, catching the ball as the "Rabbit" does close to his body. He is a leading factor in Connie Mack's rejuvenated Athletics who are giving the Yanks a tough battle for the leadership of the American League.

SINGING AFFECTS THE INSANE

Tired Brains and Irritated Nerves Said to Be Soothed by Music and the Human Voice.

Experiments are being tried at the New York State Hospital for Insane on Ward's island with the human voice, and physicians and attendants say that there is evidence that tired brains are rested and irritated nerves soothed by song. Theories evolved from studying "reactions" of insane patients prove that vocal music has a more powerful influence over the average insane person than instrumental.

A series of concerts is to be given at the hospital and results will be carefully watched to determine just what measure of relief is given. Music has been used for this purpose in Germany with great success for many years and the alienists are able to say what kinds of music have the proper effect upon individual cases. The soprano voice is said to be most beneficial to cases of acute melancholia.

The tenor voice, high and clear, has the best effect on persons having softening of the brain, while the deep, rich tones of the baritone affect particularly paranoiacs. It is a mystery yet to be explained by science why a mind unbalanced is abnormally sensitive to musical vibrations. A professional pianist in Russia, trying piano solos on patients, found that "jazz" was positively harmful, while soft, soothing, restful music would quiet the most violent.

REST FOR BRAIN

Proper Periods for Sleeping Are Imperative.

No Substitute for "Nature's Sweet Restorer" Has Been Found, or Is Likely to Be.

An American doctor has been trying to find a substitute for sleep.

He has calculated that we spend about one-third of our lives in more or less complete unconsciousness and that the average man of fifty-one has been asleep for seventeen years, says a specialist in an article in the Central China Post.

The idea is that this is a great waste of life, and that if one could take a pill, or a dose of medicine instead of going to bed he would really have added many years to his allotted span.

But the research for such a substitute failed, utterly and hopelessly. There is no substitute for sleep. Not one of the imitations is even "nearly as good."

It was only when the brain itself came to be studied that the real meaning of sleep was found. The brain contains vast numbers of cells, each of which is related to some part of the body, just as an electric switch is related to some lamp or bell. The whole power and strength of the body depend on the brain cells.

Up till a short time ago we knew very little about these strange structures. We were able to look at them with a microscope, and we could stain them with various dyes so that they showed up quite clearly against the rest of the brain matter.

And then one doctor, more observant than his fellows, noticed a strange thing. Sometimes the brain cells did not stain so well or so darkly as at other times. The little, vital cells were pale and indistinct instead of being clear and dark.

A great many people began to try to find out what this mystery substance of the brain was. All kinds of strange experiments were carried out. For example, if the brain of a hare which had been cussed was examined, the brain cells were empty of the mystery substance. The brain cells stained poorly and indistinctly.

The brains of men worn out in battle, or killed in condition of great strain, were also empty. And if a man had had no sleep for long periods, his supply of mystery substance was very low.

Gradually the knowledge came that during all efforts, both of mind and body, we use up this strange substance until at last our brain cells are empty of it. And then we can do no more. Unless we can get a new supply we perish.

It is sleep which brings the new supply. It is sleep which fills the brain cells afresh with their vital mystery substance. It is sleep which saves us from utter exhaustion, and even from death. By no other means can we make our brains fit to work again.

Going Around the World. The records for traveling around the globe are:

Magellan expedition, 1519-1522, three years; Phineas Fogg, 1872, 80 days; Nellie Bryn, 1880, 72 days; George Francis Train, 1890, 67 days; Charles Fitzmaurice, 1901, 60 days; Henry Frederick, 1903, 54 days; Col. Burnley Campbell, 1907, 40 days; Andre Jaeger-Schmidt, 1911, 39 days; John Henry Mears, 1913, 35 days.

Mr. Mears, the present record holder, says that he could not repeat his 1913 feat today, because the Trans-Siberian railroad is closed. That railway was the biggest factor in reducing the time for traveling around the globe. To make the journey by airplane, Mr. Mears says, would require only about twelve and a half days in actual flying time, but probably six months on account of delays "between hops."

Pride Goeth Before a Fall. A young society matron was taking her baby for an airing in its buggy. She was fairly strutting down the boulevard, so great was her pride in this first born. Two little girls, playing on the apartment steps, smiled at her as she passed. One of them turned to the other and said, "Now, that's what I'm going to be when I grow up. I'm going to be a maid, so I can take people's babies out for an airing."
